This gift will help us bring health, happiness and hope to those affected by chronic kidney disease.

An illness is too demanding when you don't have hope.

Founded in 1993 by Lori Hartwell—a longtime kidney disease survivor—the Renal Support Network endeavors to instill health, happiness, and hope into the lives of people affected by chronic kidney disease. We do this through programs and services that provide educational and emotional support, empowering patients to help fellow patients and their families. Thanks to the ongoing involvement of the community, the influence of this nonprofit patient-run, patient-focused organization now extends across the United States.
