

AFTERTHOUGHTS

Nephrology News & Issues • December 2009

Compiled by Rebecca Zumoff

'Who Lives?' nominated for 5 L.A. theater awards

The Renal Support Network announced that it has landed five Ovation Award nominations for its production of "Who Lives?" a play that explores the 1960s anonymous citizens committee that determined the life-or-death fate of kidney patients needing dialysis. The L.A. Stage Alliance Ovation Awards are peer-judged theater awards in Los Angeles. RSN is the only non-theater entity to receive Ovation nominations this year, and one of a handful of producers to receive five or more nominations, placing RSN alongside major theater companies.

Scenes from the RSN Production, "Who Lives?"

RSN's five nominations for "Who Lives?" were as follows:

Lead actor in a play—Matt Gottlieb

Costume design, Intimate theatre—Catherine Glover

Lighting design, Intimate theatre—Jeremy Pivnick

Scenic design, Intimate theatre—Will Pellegrini

Sound design, Intimate theatre—Jeffrey Porte